Projects

Sriracha UI ↗
React Styled Component Library
Sriracha UI ↗ is a React styled component library that uses the Material UI color and drop shadow theme. It's designed to help you quickly layout and customized your site to perfection with ease.

Tetrix ↗
A Tetras Clone
A tetras clone my buddy built in react. I paired up with him and helped him move the game into a Next.js app using Apollo client. I'm also responsible for building the user authentication and leaderboard database using TypeScript, TypeORM, TypeGraphQL and Nodemailer.

NutriJournal ↗
A Nutrition Tracking App
- User's have the ability to log what they ate, at what time and the quantity they ate.
- User's are recommended to update their weight once a week so I can be accurately tracked.
- NutriJournal takes in the user's input and tracks their: weight, calories, carbs/protein/fats over time and compares that data to the users goals so they can track their progress towards their personalized goals over time.

Professional Experience

Lambda School   08/2019 – present │ Remote, USA
Team Lead
- Successfully lead 3 teams through different parts of the curriculum (one through web, two through labs) with a 96% pass rate.
- Contributed to Lambda's open source "Labs Guides" repository, writing a blog teachings students and team leads how to set up ESLint and Prettier ↗ in their team projects.
- Soft skills I learned in the customer service business as a server and preforming music on the streets of Austin, and in various restaurants and pubs, has had an un-quantifiable impact on my ability to create a safe environment where my team can learn, grow, and thrive.

Italic   11/2016 – 10/2018 │ Austin, TX, USA
Server
- Maintained an average of 25% - 30% average tip through most nights.
- Wrote an preformed educational songs about Italian wine grape varietals during our Saturday meetings, where we would go over and discuss the nuances of Italian wine along with new product we we're getting in.
- Learned an incredible about about wine, coffee and how to be the best version of myself from some amazing friends and leaders.

Self Employed   11/2016 – 10/2018 │ Austin, TX, USA
Street Musician
- While I worked at Italic, I started a side business playing guitar on the streets in downtown Austin.
- Over the course of 2 years I was able to see a 500% increase in average tips. A few things that contributed to this growth were:
  - Investing money I made from preforming in the street in new gear (street amp, microphones, looper pedal, ect.).
  - Learning best spots and best times to preform.
  - Constant practice, experience, and experimentation allowed me to hone and expand my show.

Education

Lambda School   02/2019 – present │ Wimberley, USA
Full Stack Web Development
Attending Lambda as a student and being a Team Lead here, for both curriculum and labs, has been an absolute pleasure and an experience that has truly allowed me grow my skills in coding and leadership alike.
